THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

Briefly

Rummage sale here Saturday

The Tri-City Area Association for the Handicapped will hold a rummage sale Saturday. Funds from this sale will go toward future events planned for the Saturday Activity Program.

The Saturday Activity Program introduces physically and mentally handicapped people to arts and crafts, lectures and personal hygiene and awareness. It also provides social interaction.

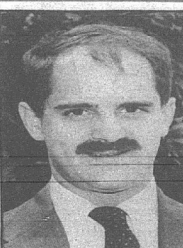

The group, which currently consists of 30 members, meets every Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at St. John's Church on Nameoki Road.

The group has several projects and outings planned for the year. Tentative outings are to: Show Biz Plaza, Grants Farm, Six Flags, the Zoo, Missouri Botanical Gardens, Heritage America (Cahokia Mounds), Wilson Park and Relleke Farms.

Outings and supplies for the group are funded by donations and activities such as rummage sales and car washes.

Anyone interested in donating items to the rummage sale, or who would like further information regarding the Saturday Activity Program, should contact Kim at 451-2965 or Sandy at 451-9832.

Too few dollars Police call funding inadequate

By Tim Rowden
Staff writer

Officials in Missouri and Illinois agree, local law enforcement is inadequately funded.

Law enforcement agencies are struggling to provide quality law enforcement with too few officers, too little training and too little funding to offer specialized proactive programs, officials say.

Officials point out that each agency faces its own mix of variables — including population, geographic layout and the local economy — that affect how much is allocated for police.

A comparison of city and county law enforcement agencies in the Journals circulation area reveals a wide disparity in police funding and spending. But officials attribute the disparity largely to the different conditions faced by different communities.

And the bottom line, they insist, is that no agency has enough.

Tim Jackson, executive director of the Missouri Police Chiefs Association, said in general city police departments in Missouri are not funded adequately, but it's hard to determine exactly how many are underfunded, or which city ranks the lowest.

Jackson said factors such as population, sales tax and location all must be considered when examining a city's allocation for law enforcement.

"Even though an area might be inhabited by a population of 2,000 or 3,000 or what have you, it might have a lot more business than others of the same size," Jackson said. "A community of 2,000 or 3,000 in a metropolitan area is going to have a need for a larger force than one in a rural area because of commuter traffic and transients and so forth."

The chart accompanying this story shows how much money per resident is being spent for law enforcement in selected entities. The chart also tells how large a

Local departments are just making do

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Officials in Granite City, Madison and Venice all wish they had more money for law enforcement, but all said their departments are making do with the funding available.

The amount of funding for law enforcement in Granite City is less than ideal, Granite City Mayor Ron Selph said, but the city's financial problems mean it, and all other city services, are under constant budgetary fire.

"We are responsible for all the protection of the entire city and the fact we are doing that, as well as providing all the other city services, with only 17 cents of every local tax dollar, it's a pretty major accomplishment," Selph said.

Selph said he believes the police department, now at 48 officers, cannot risk any more cutbacks and said he would like to increase its funding. But Selph, a 20-year police veteran, said that public demand for increased law enforcement usually only comes in response to an emergency situation.

"If we wait for that, the chances are law enforcement will already

Suspect in killing may be tried as adult

St. Louis County Police have arrested a juvenile in connection with the murder Saturday of a Granite City girl who was employed as a doughnut shop clerk in Spanish Lake in north St. Louis County.

A 15-year-old suspect from St. Louis was arrested at 11:50 p.m. Saturday and was taken into custody by St. Louis County Juvenile Court authorities.

St. Louis County Sgt. David Glenn said police will seek warrants on a first-degree murder charge against the suspect if it is determined that he faces charges as an adult.

That determination will be made at a certification hearing on June 15.

"I am 100 percent positive he is the murderer," Glenn said. Glenn said the suspect was a former boyfriend of 15-year-old Frances Paula Paciencia of Granite City, whose body was found Saturday afternoon in the back room of Mac's Donuts, 12131 Bellefontaine Road. The cause of death was strangulation, Glenn said.

"Witnesses observed a young male at the time of the murder," Glenn said. "Later, we developed information identifying a former boyfriend of the

Johnston named marketing head for Suburban Journals

Mark B. Johnston, former retail advertising manager for the Kansas City Star newspaper, has been named marketing director for the Suburban Journals, according to an announcement Monday by Thomas E. Rice, president and CEO of the Journals.

"Mark has more than 11 years of experience in the Midwest with many of the same major and regional accounts that operate in St. Louis," Rice said. "He has had an outstanding list of accomplishments during his career in sales and marketing, and will be an important addition in continuing to build and market the readership lead the Journals have in St. Louis over the Post-Dispatch."

Johnston will be responsible for all major and regional accounts, classified and national sales, and will be located at the Journals corporate offices at Interstate 270 and Manchester Road in Town and Country.

He is a 1981 graduate of the University of Kansas with a bachelor of science degree in journalism with an emphasis in

More city appointments Many from Cruse administration stay

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The new city administration is nearly in place. Granite City Mayor Ron Selph was to announce most of his remaining choices for appointed positions Tuesday night.

Many appointees from Mayor Von Dee Cruse's administration — including Economic Development Director Alan Orthals, Public Works Director Brett Hanke, Administrative Assistant Donna Fanning, Comptroller K.F. MacTaggart and Sewer Inspector Matt Ozanich — will remain in place, Selph said Monday.

Selph had announced many of his appointments when he took office May 4. Former Granite City Street Superintendent Mac Warfield will be chosen to replace Louise Wade as the city's Civil Defense Director, Selph said.

Warfield, who was defeated in his 1991 re-election bid by current Street Superintendent Clayton "Jug" Harrison, has been working at the Metro East Sanitary District. Also tapped was Lynnette Kozar, who will replace Mitch Abbott as Safety Director. Abbott left the city earlier this month for a job in the private sector.

Selph said he would appoint Capt. Dave Ruebhausen as assistant chief of the police department.

The department has been without an assistant chief since Selph retired from that post in September 1991.

Ruebhausen's appointment and May 4 appointment of former Capt. Jim Lengyel as police chief leaves the department with only one officer, Kip Pomeroy, with the rank of captain. Lt. Roy Koberna is first on the standing promotion list for captain.

Selph said he is still considering appointing an assistant fire chief, but that current manning levels on the department prohibit it such a move. Fire Chief Keith Talley said that the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners is close to hiring a new firefighter.

The fire department has been without an assistant chief since Bob Bell retired from the post two years ago.

Selph also said Monday that chiropractor and current School

Funding

percentage of the entities' overall budget is allocated to police services and how many residents there are per officer.

The size of the overall budget pie has a lot to do with the amount of police spending per resident.

For example, at the high end of the scale, the city of Fenton spends an average $414 per resident for police protection. Comparatively, at the low end of the scale, Chesterfield spends the average of $74 per resident. (See chart.)

Considering the cities' overall budgets, however, Fenton invests an average of 37 percent of its city budget in police protection. Chesterfield, which spends considerably less per resident, invests an average of 40 percent of its city budget, about 3 percent more than Fenton.

St. Clair County spends an average of $20 per capita, compared with St. Louis City, which spends an average of $220. St. Louis invests 29 percent of its city budget on police protection. St. Clair invests only slightly less at 25 percent.

"Obviously, any chief or sheriff is going to tell you that they're inadequately funded," said J.W. "Skip" Bennett, director of training for the Southwest Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. "There's never enough money... (but) if you want to have proactive programs like D.A.R.E. (Drug Awareness and Resistance Education), which is one of the most successful programs of its kind, that requires money. It requires an officer taking time to do that."

With violent crime on the rise, Bennett said, and with municipalities and counties suffering from a lack of adequate funds for nearly all programs, the end result can only be an increase in the nation's crime rate.

The end result is a scale-back by local governments and a compromise on public safety that will lead to something close to anarchy," Bennett said. "At least in those communities that are not experiencing larges."

The city of St. George (population 1,359) in south St. Louis County is one community that is not experiencing larges, its police chief said.

Paul Roy, chief of the St. George Police Department and treasurer of Missouri's Small Cities Police Chiefs Organization, said police agencies are facing tight finances.

"Most police departments are trying to service their community to the best of their ability," Roy said. "A lot of the police departments are undermanned and understaffed."

Roy said departments in small cities such as St. George are entirely dependent on local tax revenues for support because they do not qualify for state and federal grant funds for programs such as D.A.R.E. Lacking these funds, he said, the departments must tap into their already limited funds to provide such programs.

But large or small, all communities need more money, said Perry Wingard, executive director of the Missouri Sheriff's Association.

"I'm not aware of any jurisdiction in the state of Missouri that is overfunded," Wingard said. "The demand for law enforcement services is far greater than the availability of funds."

"That includes all areas. We need better paid officers. We need more training. We need to put more emphasis into our drug programs and the other parts of our programs like our prevention programs. The Neighborhood Watch and the D.A.R.E. programs are doing real well and we'd like to see that continue."

$104 per resident is average

Per capita funding for the Granite City Police Department is below the average, while the Madison and Venice and Collinsville departments are slightly above average, as compared to 11 municipal departments in Madison and St. Clair counties.

In Granite City, about $97 is spent for each resident on police protection. That is somewhat below the $104 average for current budget years.

Both Madison and Venice are slightly above the average at $115 and $112 respectively.

Out of the 11 local communities, Troy spends the largest percentage of its general fund budget — 58 percent — on police protection. The average was 32.6 percent.

Such statistics are an inexact comparison of individual departments, officials say.

"Numbers aren't really telling you too much," said Madison Police Chief Charlie Bridick. "Maybe if you knew (the number of) criminals per capita you'd have something."

"It's hard to compare one department against another," Collinsville Police Chief John Swindle said. "Fairview Heights, for example, they don't have that many residents, but during the daytime with the mall and everything they have a lot more people."

Swindle and Troy Police Chief Robert Noonan both said they could serve their communities better with more funding.

"Certainly our funding isn't real expansive money," Noonan said. "It's basically a maintenance budget with the exception that they are allowing some money for the computer system we're putting in this year."

Madison County spends an average of $21 per capita for police protection, and St. Clair County spends about $20 per capita. This represents 8 percent and 25 percent of the budgets of the respective counties.

Edgar gets pilot DUI plan

SPRINGFIELD — A pilot program using devices that prevent a car from starting unless the driver passes a breath test would be authorized under legislation sent to Gov. Jim Edgar.

The bill would let the Secretary of State's Office select areas for a pilot program using ignition interlock devices.

Drivers in the program would have to blow into the device and not record a higher blood-alcohol level than the state limit before the car would start.

Participation in the program would be limited to people arrested for a second or subsequent charge of driving under the influence.

Participants would have to pay for leasing the devices, which are used in 23 other states.

Also Thursday the Senate approved a measure to ban drivers licenses for anyone under age 18 convicted of driving under the influence.

Another bill sent to the governor would allow Madison and other counties with populations of more than 200,000 to impound two grand juries at the same time, instead of just one.

The House sent to the governor a bill requiring child safety seats regardless of who is driving the vehicle. Current law only makes parents or guardians liable for providing the seats for passengers under age 4.

Judge tells Vest he should hire lawyer

Dr. Thomas Bruce Vest should hire a lawyer to defend himself against Medicare fraud charges, a federal judge insisted Friday.

"You're facing extremely serious, complex criminal charges," U.S. District Judge William Beatty said. "You should have an attorney to represent you."

Vest has said he will defend himself against charges he billed Medicare and private insurance companies for fraudulent medical claims.

The 40-count mail fraud indictment charges Vest put false symptoms in patients' files at his Doctors Clinic, 4325 Abby St., Alton, near Alton Square.

Vest then performed expensive diagnostic tests on the patients and sent the bills to Medicare and insurance companies, the indictment claims.

Vest, 64, appeared before Beatty Friday to argue his motion to dismiss the fraud charges. "There's not a shred of evidence to show I violated any law," Vest told a reporter.

Beatty, however, postponed the hearing on Vest's defense motions until the doctor consults with an attorney.

"It's a 40-count indictment, and the penalty is five years on each count," Beatty told Vest. "You could be sentenced to a long time in the penitentiary. You could be fined millions of dollars."

"I'll talk with a lawyer and then decide whether to hire one," Vest said he would follow Beatty's advice.

"I'll talk with a lawyer and then decide whether to hire one," Vest told a reporter.

He told Beatty he could not afford to pay the $300,000 that one attorney offered to charge to defend him. "I don't have the funds to pay the lawyer."

Vest's $13 million, 38,000-square-foot medical center opened in January 1986 with sophisticated state-of-the-art diagnostic equipment. It has attracted patients from throughout the area and advertised heavily.

"I will prove at my trial that every diagnostic test I perform on a patient is absolutely necessary," Vest said.

Shell fire spews motor oil; EPA investigating cause

SOUTH ROXANA — Officials are investigating a fire that spewed unprocessed motor oil and 200 pounds of hydrogen sulfide into the middle of town.

South Roxana police directed traffic around Madison and Sinclair avenues about an hour after the 12:30 p.m. release Sunday while street crews spread sand to soak up the slick coating of oil.

"It's yellow and yucky and oily, and it came from whatever happened at Shell," Sgt. David Bedwell said.

The incident spread the oily droplets over a five-block area, including the Village Hall and several police cars parked behind it.

The oil could be seen dripping from houses and cars caught in the path of the spray.

No injuries were reported, but at least one woman who felt nauseous was contacted by the Shell company doctor, authorities said.

"It's a mess," Bedwell said. The blaze started in a lubricating process unit just inside the Wood River Manufacturing Complex's southern fence across Madison Avenue from the village. The fire was under control by about 15 minutes, but the motor oil bled back and the hydrogen sulfide spewed for about three minutes as the pressure was brought down on the unit, Shell spokeswoman Tara Condon-Tullier said.

Company environmentalists may take a week to determine how much oil was lost. Officials said a malfunctioning heater may have caused the fire. The fire prompted Shell to put an emergency notification net work into effect.

Shell sent 15 people out into the community immediately and notified residents through the SCAN network," Condon-Tullier said.

The Shell Community Alert Net work telephone system set up to warn residents of possible dangers was not activated until 2:05 p.m., more than an hour and a half after the release, she said.

"We didn't hear any emergency whistles or anything," said Stella Platt of South Roxana, who was visiting a friend in the affected area.

"We were standing by the garden and looked up and saw flames shooting over the building. A few seconds later, we saw a puff of gray smoke. A puff of yellow and black smoke followed it, and then we saw it start to spray," she said.

Condon-Tullier said the company is continuing to assess problems in the village and has enlisted an insurance agency to deal with claims. Officials said they believe any damage was limited to homes in a five-block area between Poag and Sinclair avenues. An 800 telephone number will be set up later if needed, she said.

"The biggest impact was the hassle to the community. If the unit had been working, we would have handled the claims," she said.

The company's environmental specialists began to assess damages Monday, she added.

James O'Brien, manager of chemical safety for the Emergency Response Unit of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, said the amount of damage from the hydrogen sulfide release depends on how much exposure there was and whether the release was at ground level or high in the air.

The chemical can cause respiratory irritation, weakness and dizziness in low concentrations and may be fatal at higher levels.

"The chemical produces a characteristic rotten egg odor, and it is difficult to get a concentrated dose in the open air," he added.

An IEPA inspector was sent to the scene Sunday but his report had not been completed as of Monday morning.

Shell notified the agency and reported the hydrogen sulfide and oil release, he said.

South Roxana resident Dorothy Johnson was waiting to see if the oil and chemicals could be washed off her 1993 white Chevrolet Lumina.

"It's like a brownish stain and it doesn't wipe off," she said. Johnson was parked outside the American Legion on Sinclair Avenue Sunday when the blast sprayed every car in the lot.

Nobody knew what happened until they saw a Shell company van arrive, when the blast sprayed every car in the lot. Nobody knew what happened until they saw a Shell company van arrive, when the blast sprayed every car in the lot.

BAC getting tough on loans

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

In an effort to reduce the number of students who do not repay federal loans, Belleville Area College officials will not allow students to use the loans until they have completed 12 credit hours of coursework.

The change, which was possible under the college's current policy, will be implemented in the fall.

The college already has a 23 percent default rate in its program and 25 percent is the critical point, said BAC Vice President Ted Lewis.

The federal government, which funds the program, has been monitoring default rates at colleges because some for-profit private schools abused the system by enrolling students who were not academically strong, he said.

"This (restriction) is becoming more common and colleges in the state recommend it," Lewis said.

The change should not deter students from attending BAC because they lack funds, he said, since 98 percent of the college's first-time students receive at least $1,000 in other funding, mostly grants.

In addition, 62 percent of first-time borrowers attend school full-time (minimum 12 hours) and would be eligible for the loan during their second semester, Lewis said.

BAC President Joseph Cipri said the change could even benefit students who do not continue college because they will not incur debt once they leave.

"Other aid they get is direct, free money that doesn't have to be paid back," he said. "What we're making certain is that the student is serious about their education."

Lewis said special provisions could be made for students who must have the loan to attend college or on a "meritorious basis."

Court's handling of animal control law violations assailed

Madison County officials want much more time to deal with animal control law violations.

Tickets issued by animal control officers are routinely dismissed, ignored or never followed up when they reach the county, County Board member Nick Hamilos said Thursday during a meeting with Chief Judge Paul Riley.

"When they come to court, they don't go anywhere," said Hamilos, chairman of the County Board's Animal Health Committee.

In addition, arrest warrants issued for people who do not pay fines or show up for court are never served, officials said.

"After a while the officers feel like why should we even try when they've seen all these people getting tickets written to them but nothing ever happens," Animal Control Officer Terry Brookman said.

Riley conceded the courts have been lax in enforcing leash and license laws. He pledged to work with his fellow judges to discuss the situation.

However, staff shortages and a full docket of more serious criminal and civil cases make it difficult for court officials to devote much time to relatively minor dog and cat complaints, Riley said.

"What you're telling me is (complaints and warrants) are going into a drawer and never being heard from again," Riley said. "I'll be honest with you, for insignificant misdemeanors the sheriff just doesn't have the manpower to track them all down."

Typically, a pet owner who lets his dog run loose or fails to get the animal vaccinated is given several oral and written warnings before a ticket is issued. Each ticket involves a $65 fine.

On the positive side, a person refuses to pay the fine, a court date is set. Brookman said some judges scoff at the $65 fine.

"They laugh at it and say it's an unjust fine and dismiss it," Brookman told the committee.

When an individual fails to show up for court, a warrant is issued.

The warrants, however, are never served, officials said.

Animal Control Administrator Dr. Virgil Holdeman said pet owners have gotten the message that they can violate leash laws and get away with it.

"If a guy sees his neighbor's dog running loose all the time and nothing ever happens to the neighbor, then he figures, 'What the hell?' and lets his dog go, too," Holdeman said.

In 1992, there were 20 tickets issued for leash and license violations, 10 of which were handled by the sheriff's court.

Of the remaining 10, five were dismissed and the other five defendants did not show up for court.

Warrants have been issued for the five but none has been served.

In one recent case, a Madison County assessor, announced Friday that the mailing 1992 property tax bills due in 1993 is the assessor's way of a total of 114,736 bills were printed, which should generate revenue for all taxing districts in the amount of $133,100,633.

A total of 90,741 bills are being mailed directly to property owners. An additional 23,995 will be mailed or delivered to tax-paying agents.

"The mailing of the tax bills is a total county effort, and I must commend the county assessor, clerk, data processing office, and the tax steering committee of the county Board. We worked together and got the job done," said Shinkus. He also projects that tax distributions should begin about May 28.

The first installment of the tax bill is due on July 8, and the second installment is due on Sept. 8.

Taxpayers may pay at their local bank, by mail, or at the treasurer's office, Suite 125 in the new County Administration Building, 157 N. Main St., Edwardsville.

A public outcry has led advertisers to cancel commercials on the station, which led management to suspend the two.

"I was sickened when I heard the racial slurs. As the week went on, I was heartened as well," Freeman said.

Addressing of racial harmony urged

ALTON — The complexity of racial problems should not deter a community from tackling them, a columnist told a gathering for the NAACP Freedom Fund Banquet.

"We've got to put polarization on the table," columnist and commentator Gregory Freeman said.

He urged a crowd of 200 members and supporters of the Alton Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Saturday to be wary of politicians who foster racial divisions by failing to represent minorities.

Freeman said such politicians hurt economic opportunities of African Americans. As evidence, he asked listeners to note the small number of black business leaders and developers in the area.

"A divided community is a weakened community. Blacks and whites are cut off from the opportunity to benefit from one another," Freeman said.

Most importantly, Freeman said, racism needs to be addressed on a social level.

Members of ethnic groups choose to stay away from each other, and as an example, he pointed out how black and white students sit in separate areas of school lunchrooms.

On the positive side, he recalled his own childhood, growing up in a black neighborhood in St. Louis. He recalled riding a bus to a school with a white majority because his own school was overcrowded.

Such relationships are rare in St. Louis, he said, and added he is not sure if people will finally rid themselves of racist beliefs.

He said a recent display of racism at a St. Louis radio show might serve as an accurate gauge of the current racial trends. He was referring to morning disc jockeys Steve Shannon and D.C. Chymes of WKDQ Radio, who called a black woman caller a derogatory name.

A public outcry has led advertisers to cancel commercials on the station, which led management to suspend the two.

"I was sickened when I heard the racial slurs. As the week went on, I was heartened as well," Freeman said.

Freeman is a columnist for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch where he writes social and political commentary in a column titled "Urban View."

SMOKING AND YOUR FEET

If you smoke and figure a podiatrist's office is one place you WON'T have to worry about getting a lecture on the subject, brace yourself. Quitting smoking is one of the healthiest things you can do for your entire body. The fact that your feet are the farthest point away from the smoke inhalation itself should be no consolation. The very reason that the feet are at the end of the circulation route makes them more, not less, susceptible to smoking's ill effects. Simply put, smoking is a disaster for the circulatory system. Feet have a tough enough job under the best of circumstances pumping blood back up to the heart. Smoking adds a stranglehold around the vessels as they work.

P. S. Walking is a great exercise for both enhancing circulation and exercising the feet and legs.

Stairs a problem? Not with the STAIR-GLIDE® Stairway Lift

If you're unable to climb stairs, don't feel you have to stay upstairs or downstairs. Have costly construction done — or, worse yet, give up your multi-story home. The solution is simple and economical. The STAIR-GLIDE stairway lift, just sit in the comfortable seat, push a button and glide safely and effortlessly up — around curves and landings — and downstairs. Choose from several models to suit your needs — all tax deductible when recommended by a doctor.

'Do it yourself'

Bill to simplify divorce goes to Edgar

SPRINGFIELD — Legislation that would allow "do-it-yourself" divorces under certain conditions has been sent to Gov. Jim Edgar.

The House, without opposition or debate, followed the Senate Wednesday in approving the simplified divorce legislation proposed by the Illinois State Bar Association. The bill would help lower costs of divorces for modest-income couples who choose to split without the use of attorneys.

The governor would have to sign the bill and the Illinois Supreme Court would have to issue rules to implement it before the forms for the easier divorces were available. That process, however, could take months, state officials said.

Only childless couples with few assets, modest income, no disputes over property and relatively short marriages would qualify.

If approved by Edgar, forms would be available from circuit clerks along with brochures explaining how to use the simplified procedure.

Although lawyers would not have to be hired for couples to jointly petition for the simplified divorce, the brochures would have to advise them it is in their best interests to consult attorneys. Couples would also be warned that they were permanently waiving future financial claims, such as alimony.

Those seeking to use the procedure must have no real estate, no other property worth more than $5,000 and combined annual incomes of less than $25,000. They also must have disclosed all debts and liabilities to each other and reached a written agreement on dividing joint property and responsibility for debts.

The couple also must have been separated for at least six months but not married more than five years.

They must also jointly appear before a judge, who is required to expeditiously consider the case and grant the divorce if he finds their agreement "not unconscionable."

No transcripts would be required for the judicial hearing.

State welfare director resigns post

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — State welfare director Phil Bradley will leave the Department of Public Aid at the end of the month to take a job in the private sector.

"This has been a tough time to be in Public Aid. It's a high-stress job," Bradley said in a telephone interview Wednesday.

"I've enjoyed it immensely," Bradley said he had planned to stay in government, but a health-care company he won't yet say which one — approached him and offered an attractive job with a handsome salary. As Public Aid director, he earned $76,991 yearly.

Gov. Jim Edgar issued a statement praising Bradley and accepting his resignation "with regret."

As the official who implemented an unpopular tax on nursing homes and hospitals, Bradley has borne plenty of criticism, especially from the governor's fellow Republicans. He denied that led to his resignation.

Others, including the governor's spokesman and key House Republicans, also said Bradley wasn't forced to resign. The department has been criticized for eliminating welfare payments to thousands of people it said were able to work. It has also received low marks on its efforts to collect child support.

During Bradley's tenure, the department started the welfare-to-work program called Earnfare and began beefing up medical care for pregnant women.

Robert Wright, the Public Aid Department's deputy director, will serve as interim director. Officials had no estimate of how long it would take to find a permanent replacement.

State 1st with pay phones for deaf

(The following article is by Chris Green of Copley News Service.)

Illinois is the first state in the country to install outdoor pay phones for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

"This technology has made it possible for people who are hard-of-hearing to have the same access," said Charlie Martin, acting director of the state Department of Rehabilitation Services.

Representatives of the Illinois Department of Transportation, the Illinois Commerce Commission and the Illinois Association of the Deaf joined Martin in a ribbon-cutting ceremony April 29 at the southbound Interstate 55 rest area near Sherman.

The outdoor pay Telecommunication Devices for the Deaf/Teletypewriters (TDDs/TTYs) are regular pay phones. However, at the base of the phone is a small retractable keyboard and display screen. A deaf or speech-impaired caller can type in his or her conversation and read the other TDD/TTY user's message over the display screen.

The TDD stores the conversation in a 2,000-character memory bank. The caller can scroll through the memory to review the conversation (which are erased at the end of each call to ensure privacy).

The phone device is made by Ultracite Inc. It is designed to work with any public phone. The company agreed to donate the equipment and services for the project's first year.

Prior to the installation of the devices, people who are deaf or hard-of-hearing had to seek help.

General chosen as new. Airlift Wing commander

Air Mobility Command has announced that Col. Charles H. Coolidge Jr., brigadier general selectee, has been chosen to become the next 37th Airlift Wing commander.

Coolidge, currently the vice commander of the Tanker Airlift Control Center at Scott Air Force Base, will replace Brig. Gen. Dwight M. Kealoha who is leaving to become commander of the 15th Air Base Wing, Hickam Air Force Base, Hawaii.

"I'm extremely honored and pleased to be selected to command this airlift wing," Coolidge said. "Bonnie and I are especially proud to be staying here at Scott. This wing has a long tradition of super people working with super support from the local communities. I look forward to working together to make Scott a better place for us to live and work."

Born in Chattanooga, Tenn., Coolidge received his commission after graduating from the United States Air Force Academy in 1988 with a bachelor of science degree in basic science. From there he went on to attend undergraduate pilot training at Moody Air Force Base, Ga.

After initial pilot training, he was assigned to March Air Force Base, Calif., and later assigned to Tan Son Nhut Air Base, Republic of Vietnam in 1971 as an instructor pilot in the EC-47.

Coolidge attended the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, and after graduation in 1974, he spent four years at the Air Force Academy as a professor of physics and head of the cadet parachute program.

In 1978, he attended the Air

Command and Staff College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. After completing the course, Coolidge was assigned to 91st Air Refueling Squadron at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, N.C., where he served as operations officer and commander. He was assigned to the Office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the Pentagon where he served as strategic policy planner in the nuclear negotiations division. He was also the Joint Staff representative to the U.S.-U.S.S.R. Standing Consultative Commission, Geneva, Switzerland.

Some of his other positions have included vice commander and commander of the 301st Air Refueling Wing, Malmstrom Air Force Base, Mont., and Assistant Chief of Staff Requirements and Test at Headquarters Strategic Air Command, Offutt Air Force Base, Neb. He assumed his present duties in March 1992.

Coolidge is a command pilot with more than 3,500 flying hours. His awards and decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross, Legion of Merit, Defense Meritorious Service Medal, three Meritorious Service Medals, Five Air Medals and the Air Force Commendation Medal.

120 attend aviation program

The chance to sit behind the controls of a single engine airplane as if they were flying it by themselves was more than enough to prompt prospective aviation students to sign up for Belleville Area College's aviation program.

During the BAC aviation open house last month, flight instructors allowed each visitor to sit in the co-pilot's seat during an introductory flight in a Cessna.

"It was great," said Kyle Miller, 15, of Waterloo. "Flying is what I want to do."

Kyle came to the open house with his parents Dave and C.C. Miller. He plans to sign up for the program as soon as he turns 16.

About 120 area aviation buffs showed up at the open house to check out BAC's flight program. The open house was held at all three of BAC's flight facilities, Parks Bi-State Airport in Cahokia, Hunter Field in Sparta and Schafer's Metro East Airport in St. Jacob.

Activities at the open house included videos on flying, use of a flight simulator and the introductory flight. Visitors to the Cahokia Airport had the chance to buzz past the Gateway Arch.

"It was tremendous," said Rick Arnold, of O'Fallon. "It was a great chance to see the local area; and seeing the arch up that close was spectacular."

Arnold, who already has some flight experience, took his 8-year-old son, Jim, with him on the flight. He said his son loved getting a close view of the arch also.

As part of the introductory flight, instructors led the visitors through a pre-flight examination of the airplane and gave them brief instructions on maneuvering the plane.

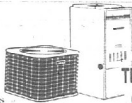

Instructors then allowed the future students to assist in the takeoff, flight and landing of the airplane.

"The amount of hand, eye and foot coordination necessary to fly a plane often surprises people," said instructor Jerry Boeckmann. "It can be quite difficult at first to get your hand and feet coordinated and still maintain eye contact outside the plane."

Edgar fills Child Fatality Task Force

After months of waiting and prodding by local State Rep. Jay Hoffman, D-Collinsville, Gov. Jim Edgar finally appointed the last 17 members of the Child Fatality Task Force.

Hoffman was appointed by the House Speaker as a legislative member to the Task Force months ago.

"This Task Force was created to investigate the deaths of children entrusted to the Department of Children and Family Services," said Hoffman, who last year authored the legislation creating the Task Force. "Our mission is to develop recommendations to prevent future deaths."

Edgar appointed the members only days after Hoffman introduced a resolution urging him to do so and after another tragic child fatality in Chicago.

"I am happy to see the governor finally get on board," Hoffman said. "It is unfortunate it took the death of a three-year-old to do it. The House Speaker and past Senate President appointed their members to the Task Force months ago. Now we can finally get to work."

Hoffman said the recent death of Joseph Wallace, reinforced the need for the task force. Wallace was hanged by his mother two months after DCFS gave her legal custody for the third time.

1,531 sign petition seeking smoking policy on Capitol Hill

U.S. Rep. Richard J. Durbin, D-Springfield, has presented the House Office Building Commission with petitions signed by 1,531 staff people on Capitol Hill, requesting a policy to protect nonsmokers from the health hazard of second-hand smoke by restricting smoking in the Capitol complex.

"Capitol Hill is behind the times when it comes to a sensible smoking policy," Durbin said. "Many workers across the country enjoy smoking policies which protect nonsmokers, while Capitol Hill employees are left to fight their way through clouds of smoke found in corridors, restrooms, and cafeterias. This strong show of support demands action."

"Nonsmokers should not be subjected to second-hand smoke as a condition of serving the American public in the U.S. Congress," Durbin said in letters to Speaker Foley, Majority Leader Gephardt, and Minority Leader Michel, the three Commission Members. "I and more than 1,500 other people who work on Capitol Hill, urge you to end the delay and take action to address these legitimate health concerns."

An Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) report found that second-hand smoke is responsible for approximately 3,000 lung cancer deaths a year in nonsmokers and thousands of unnecessary asthma attacks and respiratory infections. Second-hand smoke has been classified as the same Group A carcinogen — the same classification given to other cancer-causing agents such as asbestos, benzene and arsenic.

Durbin noted in the letter that the petitions were not circulated in other Congressional buildings such as the Library of Congress and GAO.

"However, I am sure that workers in those other buildings would also welcome protection from exposure to second-hand smoke," Durbin said.

Last month, Durbin surveyed Members of Congress about Capitol Hill smoking policies. Of the 109 responses to the survey, 76 supported making Capitol Hill "smokefree." 28 wanted to allow smoking only in designated areas, and five wrote in other responses.

Women's center launches fund-raiser

The Women's Crisis Center of Metro East is conducting its 1993 Save-A-Family fund-raising campaign during the month of May.

Opened in 1979, the Women's Crisis Center of Metro East provides temporary shelter for women who are victims of domestic violence. Operations include an office and shelter in Belleville and a field office in East St. Louis. The center serves all women of St. Clair County and selected communities of southern Madison, Monroe, Randolph and Clinton counties.

The mission of the Women's Crisis Center of Metro East is to serve victims of family violence with a primary focus on women, children and the elderly. The services include crisis intervention, emergency shelter, advocacy, community education/prevention, information and referral and counseling.

Last year, more than 1,700 women and children stayed one or more nights at the Belleville shelter. 249 clients sought help at the East St. Louis field office, and more than 3,000 crisis calls were received on the 24-hour hotline.

Women's Crisis Center of Metro East is one of only 47 shelters in the state of Illinois. The average daily cost per resident is $55. State grants provide 60 percent, other agencies 12 percent, and private gifts supply 28 percent.

The annual Save-A-Family Campaign is the major fund-raiser for the center. The campaign is conducted entirely by volunteer workers so that every dollar pledged is used for direct services for women and children in crisis. No pledge is too small and all contributions are greatly appreciated. Last year, volunteers raised $56,000.

Eagles, Gore teach about river environment

WEST ALTON, Mo. — Eagles, river water and Vice President Al Gore all played a part in making local youngsters more aware of the Earth's resources, particularly the Mississippi River.

More than 450 students took part in a four-hour project Wednesday to increase awareness of the river's relationship to the Gulf of Mexico.

The program, sponsored by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the Clorox Co. and Mote Marine Laboratory in Florida, also focused attention on polluted water sources from the 31 states draining into the Mississippi in observance of the Year of the Gulf of Mexico.

Selected students took water samples from Melvin Price Lock and Dam at the Riverlands Environmental Demonstration Area in West Alton, Mo. Tests for phosphates and nitrates will be done at the Mote Laboratory in Sarasota, Fla. A report summarizing the results will be issued later this year to participating schools.

In all, more than 1,500 students from 10 states along the Mississippi participated in environmental projects Wednesday.

In Memphis, Tenn., Gore joined junior high pupils on a river excursion before speaking to the local group and four others via closed-circuit television.

"It's important for them to be involved in practical measures to help clean up the environment because of their energy and enthusiasm," Gore said. "Do you think kids care more about the environment than adults do?" He asked to a chorus of "yes."

At the wetlands area, the World Bird Sanctuary of Eureka, Mo., showed two eagles to highlight the Kids Saving Earth Club's Precious Species program and in honor of National Wetlands Month.

The sanctuary's Mike Cooke showed about 100 sixth-graders from Alton's East Middle School a 25-year-old golden eagle as it perched on his arm.

"They can see a rabbit from two miles away," Cooke said. "I thought it was really neat. My cousin lives in Grafton and we see them on the bluffs," the 12-year-old said while taking pictures of the bird.

David Woodress, 11, correctly answered Cooke's questions about wildlife.

"They're neat. I didn't know that much about them. I hadn't seen one in real life, just on TV," Jo-Jena Everage, 11, of Alton, said.

Melissa Squires of Alton said she had seen an eagle before but not quite as close.

"I thought it was really neat. My cousin lives in Grafton and we see them on the bluffs," the 12-year-old said while taking pictures of the bird.

David Woodress, 11, correctly answered Cooke's questions about wildlife.

"I live out in the country so I see hawks a lot. I read about birds because I have a fascinating interest in them. I like to watch them," he said.

Science teacher William Eagleton said the presentation was interesting and educational.

"It gave the students a lot of insight on birds of prey. We just completed a section on the pollution of the environment and preserving resources. The whole day applies to things they learn in the classroom," Eagleton said.

Alton High School students set up and explained to others their science projects that used water from the Mississippi.

"We're emphasizing concepts," biology teacher Marvin Mondy said.

Freshman Erin Connett of Alton was honored for her award-winning project on zebra mussels.

"Zebra mussels are very detrimental to all different sorts of aquatic life. They're suffocating and starving most of the shell creatures in the Mississippi," she told a group.

Her exhibit, titled Assault of the Alien Invader, included a 77-page report on the effects of the mussels on snails.

She spent hours and hours working on it. Now she wants a career in biotechnology or environmental science," her mother, Cindy Connett, said.

Other projects included senior

Scott Jun's exhibit on sediment.

"We went to the river to collect water yesterday. It takes 24 hours to settle so we can measure it. It was high with the flooding," Jun said.

Students from Francis Howell Senior High School in St. Charles County, Mo., also took part in the project Wednesday.

"We were involved in the Illinois River Project, so the students have been trained," Francis Howell teacher Gerry Boehm said. "We'll do nine tests on the water, but the corps only needs the two."

'Mr. Taps' to perform at BAC Friday

Tap dancer Ayrie King III, professionally known as Mr. Taps, will show off his unique dancing style in a performance at Belleville Area College at 7 p.m. Friday, May 21, in the Belleville Campus Theater, 2500 Carlyle Road.

Mr. Taps of Chicago has received rave reviews for his performance in the stage productions of "Sophisticated Ladies," "Hello Dolly" and "Mood Indigo."

He has performed on the stage, radio, network television and in films.

Mr. Taps' dance style ranges from mime to fast-paced toe-tapping. Critics have described him as "a very talented and unique performer."

Mr. Taps was originally scheduled to appear at BAC in February but the performance was postponed because of inclement weather.

This presentation by the Office of College Activities and the College Activities Board is made possible by a grant from the Belleville Area College Foundation.

General admission is $8.

2 named to BAC Foundation Board

Two area businessmen have been appointed to serve on the Belleville Area College Foundation Board. The appointments of Gary W. Haskell, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of UMB First National Bank, Collinsville, and Bruce B. Holland, president and co-founder of Holland-Hinrichs Construction Inc., were ratified by the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees at its April 21 meeting. The Foundation Board elects new members and that election is ratified by the BAC trustees.

Haskell and Holland join the following Foundation Board members: Board Chairman Roger L. Beaman, president, Magna Trust; Vice Chairman K. Lane Miller, former superintendent, Belleville Township High School District 201; Glenn Horrell, owner Horrell Distribution; Joseph R. Lowery, attorney, Thompson & Mitchell; Norman L. Nold, attorney, Nold & Nold; Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer, Magna Bank of Madison County; civic leaders Barbara Constance, Lucille W. Davis, Beryl Landers, Billie J. Marsh, Orison F. Seibert, and Louis E. Tiemann; BAC President Joseph J. Ciffl; and Robert Maxwell, chairman of the BAC Board of Trustees.

New location is needed for Piasa Bird

The legend of the Piasa Bird may need an addendum. The feared man-eating creature of Indian lore may have its wings clipped by apathy and frustration in a stalled new perch-search for the bluff dweller.

The days of the 4.5-ton steel likeness of the Piasa Bird clinging to the bluffs over Norman's Landing north of Alton appear numbered.

Officials from the Alton-Godfrey Rotary Club's Piasa Foundation have yet to find new digs after a yearlong search but vow that the bird will not end up cooped up in a warehouse.

"I told them I wasn't going to renew the contract when it expired, but I haven't pushed them as far as getting it down right away," said Chuck Norman, the landing's owner and Rotary foundation member. "We haven't really worked on it in a couple of months."

Norman told foundation members last year he wanted the attraction removed from the landing by May 1, when the foundation's 10-year lease expired. He said tourist traffic interfered with his barge fleet business. Norman Brothers Inc. He wouldn't say how much longer he would allow the Piasa Bird to remain at Norman's Landing but said he wanted the matter resolved as soon as possible. William Moyer, president of the Piasa Foundation, said his efforts to relocate the Piasa were stalled while he worked on Alton Mayor Bob Towse's election campaign.

Foundation members are looking at several areas along the bluffs near Alton, Moyer said, but a promising location hasn't been found.

Rotary Club members thought they had the ideal solution with their plan to spruce up the Blue Pool nature area about a half-mile west of the landing with a parking lot and the Piasa. However, conservationists objected to the plan last year, and the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission opposed it on the grounds that the area was a roosting place for eagles.

Moyer said he hopes for a Blue Pool roost truce so state officials will reconsider.

"I think we'd be inclined to ask them what would work," he said. "If they should give us some indication of their concerns, we might be able to work something out."

Moyer said no one from the Piasa Foundation has contacted the state or conservation groups to try to work on a compromise.

"All of us in the committee are involved with different things, and we just haven't done it yet."

Bob Freeman of the Piasa Palisades Chapter of the Sierra Club said the Blue Pool plan wouldn't work in any form because the nature preserve is a federally protected wetlands.

"There are just too many reasons not to do it, and most are legal reasons," he said. "I think public opinion is also strongly against it."

Both Norman and Moyer said they will continue searching for a Piasa perch near Alton. They said the bird would not end up stored in a warehouse.

BIG LOTS AND THE LITERACY COUNCIL OF GREATER ST. LOUIS ASK FOR VOLUNTEERS TO HELP TEACH ADULTS TO READ.

St. Louis, MO, May 14, 1993—Big Lots and the Literacy Council of Greater St. Louis organized a campaign last year called "Make St. Louis a Blue Ribbon City For Literacy," which encouraged adults to volunteer to help others read. The program also stressed the impact of adult illiteracy in St. Louis, in regards to unemployment, crime and the overall quality of life in the community.

Although programs such as Big Lots' "Make St. Louis a Blue Ribbon City" literacy program serve as a great reminder of the importance of literacy, there are still thousands of St. Louis area residents who cannot read and need your help.

The Literacy Council of Greater St. Louis is a non-profit organization of volunteers dedicated to teaching reading, writing, arithmetic and life skills to adults in the area. It is the largest volunteer literacy organization in Missouri. The Literacy Council's greatest need is for volunteer tutors, who are the backbone of the literacy effort. Volunteers do the real work. They teach students to read.

People who are interested in tutoring must be 18 years old, able to read well, and willing to devote several hours a week to tutoring. No previous teaching experience is required. Workshops are held to train new volunteers initially, and throughout the tutoring experience, to continue to improve the tutors' teaching abilities and encourage communication among volunteers.

"There are many adults in St. Louis on waiting lists who want to learn to read," according to Susan Hayman, executive director of the Literacy Council of Greater St. Louis. "It's very difficult to have so tall these folks that they must wait until more volunteers are available. We need people who can spare just a few hours a week, to help someone learn to read, and really make an impact in a person's life." Susan Hayman concludes.

Call 634-1955 to learn how to help someone to read. This phone number can also be shared with a friend who wants to read and write better.

LETS organization seeks to end silence on teenage suicide

By Mike Viola
Staff writer

Like many teenagers, Nicole started experiencing feelings of depression when she was 16. She received treatment and her condition improved. Her mother, Ruth Volk, thought everything was fine.

But everything was not fine. Nicole eventually attempted suicide and today, six years later, she is brain-damaged and resides in a nursing home where she receives around-the-clock care.

"She's a new Nicole," said Volk. "She's not my old Nicole. Instead of feeling sorry for herself, Volk and Nicole's psychotherapist, Catherine Elisea, decided to form an organization to try and prevent other teenage suicide tragedies from taking place. In 1988, Volk and Elisea formed LETS, Let's End Teenage Suicide.

"So many children don't want to die. They just want the pain to die," said Elisea.

Today, LETS is an educational outreach program with dual objectives of educating youth and adults about the warning signs of potential suicide victims and teaching ways to intervene before an attempt is made.

Presentations are made throughout the St. Louis area to high schools and middle schools, counselors, parents, churches and civic organizations.

Mental health professionals as well as non-professionals are involved in the LETS mission.

Two themes permeate LETS presentations: you got a friend and secrets kill.

Both Volk and Elisea said the topic of teen suicide is not usually discussed in an open and straightforward manner. "It's a subject that a lot of people just don't want to talk about," Elisea said.

With the lack of communication has come a number of misconceptions about teenage suicide.

Suicide, a permanent solution to a temporary problem, is the second leading cause of death among teenagers in the country.

Each year, 5,000 to 6,000 teenagers commit suicide. In addition, 500,000 teenagers attempt suicide.

Elisea noted that the suicide rate among teenagers has tripled in the past 25 years.

Funding for LETS is provided primarily by two fund-raisers. On July 9, the Fifth Annual Sock Hop To Benefit LETS will be held at the Holiday-Inn-Westport. A 50's theme will include music by Butch Wax and the Hollywoods. Other activities will include an auction and raffles.

Tickets are $25 per person. The price includes dinner.

For more information about attending the sock hop, contact LETS at 621 S. New Ballas Road, Tower B, Suite 408, St. Louis, MO 63141, or call 432-1203.

Besides the sock hop, LETS will also hold a golf tournament on Aug. 30 at Whitmoor Country Club in St. Charles County. Jim Kortcamp, a chairperson of the golf tournament, said he was unaware of the severity of the problem of teenage suicide until recently. "It just amazed me all the people that are affected by it," Kortcamp said.

Alex Tarsi, also a chairperson, said that while he was in high school a teammate on the rugby team committed suicide. Now with eight children of his own, Tarsi said teen suicide is a subject that cannot be brushed under the rug.

"We need to make sure that we have an organization like LETS," Tarsi said. "If it can happen to him (the high school classmate), it can happen to my kids, too."

Tickets to participate in the golf tournament are $300 for a foursome. Corporations can sponsor a hole for $500.

To obtain an application for the tournament, call 388-4629 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., 431-3330 after 5 p.m. or call 1-800-467-4629.

Local sports and media celebrities will be playing with each foursome at the tournament. Sponsors of the event so far are the Suburban Journals, radio stations KYYK-98 FM and KWRE/V-100, and the Lichtenstein Foundation, a St. Louis-based charitable organization.

Organizers hope to make the tournament an annual event. For Volk, working with LETS is a way to deal constructively with the trauma of her daughter's suicide attempt.

During each presentation given by LETS, a short video called "Nicole's Story" is shown. The video portrays Nicole's sparkling personality before her suicide attempt and documents the effect the attempt had on the lives of those who know her.

For Sports Injuries, Doctors Have A New Strategy In Their Gameplan.

Shoulder pain. Knee injuries. The active life can take its toll. Whatever your game, there's always the chance of a painful injury. But pain is just part of the problem. To prevent further damage, and initiate treatment, your doctor needs to find the cause.

Now there's a new diagnostic approach to assist physicians in determining the exact location and type of injury: Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI). This advanced technique gives the doctor an accurate picture of the affected area to help pinpoint the injury—from shoulder rotator cuff tears to injuries of knee ligaments and meniscus—without radiation, invasive surgery or hospitalization. So your doctor can determine appropriate treatment—and get you back into action as soon as possible.

Sports injuries are one of the many medical problems that are benefiting from advanced MRI testing. Other applications include use in evaluating:

- Low back pain
- Hearing loss & equilibrium problems
- Work-related injuries
- Neck pain
- Joint pain (including hips, knees and shoulders)

Plus other areas.

To find out more about MRI, ask your doctor. Or contact:

5,000 walkers help babies at walkathon

Almost 5,000 walkers took major steps for America's babies in the March of Dimes WalkAmerica '93. Two-thousand walkers placed the pavement at Forest Park while eight additional walk sites in the metropolitan area registered nearly 3,000 participants.

Friends, families, neighbors and co-workers supported the walkers, and an estimated $400,000 in donations to the Campaign for Healthier Babies has been tallied to date.

If you were unable to be part of WalkAmerica, walk in to the sunset on May 20 at Starlight Stroll, beginning in Forest Park's Upper Muni parking lot at 5 p.m. Starlight Stroll is ideal for anyone who enjoys more leisurely, laidback pace. Call (314) 993-6670 or 344-1697 for information.

The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation supports diverse programs in the metropolitan area, including a parent support group operating at St. John's Mercy Child Health Center neonatal intensive care unit and a teen-parent support group in East St. Louis. The March of Dimes invests more than $300,000 annually at Washington University and St. Louis University Schools of Medicine in research projects investigating the causes and treatments of birth defects.

The March of Dimes is a national voluntary health agency whose mission is to improve the health of babies by preventing birth defects and infant mortality. Through its Campaign for Healthier Babies, the March of Dimes funds programs of research, community service, education and advocacy.

IF YOU'RE A WOMAN OVER 35, AND HAVEN'T HAD A MAMMOGRAM, JUST THINK WHAT YOU COULD BE MISSING.

You could be missing the early stages of breast cancer. A lump so tiny, it would be impossible to feel. And everyone knows the importance of discovering any cancer early. That's why a mammogram is so valuable in detecting many forms of breast cancer.

Why take the risk? For your own reassurance, call Memorial's Mammography Center at 233-7750, extension 5065, to find out more about about this cost-effective, life-saving exam.

Caller ID phone service now available

Caller ID and several other unusual new telephone services became available May 11 to more than 50,000 Metro East telephone customers.

Caller ID service allows customers to see the phone number of incoming calls before answering the phone.

More than 50,000 Illinois Bell customers have signed up for Caller ID since the company began offering the advanced service last year, according to Mary McCormick, Illinois Bell external relations director.

"Caller ID has been extremely popular so far," said McCormick, "because it can help answer that age-old question — 'Who's calling?'"

"In the future, our digital network will help improve our customers' quality of life through exciting in-home services such as 'electronic house calls' by doctors, long-distance learning for students, and shopping and entertainment services for children and adults," she said.

"More immediately, beginning today, area residents and businesses can use the new telephone services to save time and communicate more easily," McCormick said.

Caller ID service costs $6.50 per month and also requires a separate unit attached to the phone to display the number of incoming calls. The display units are available at many retail stores. Customers also can lease a unit from Illinois Bell for $5.95 per month or purchase one in installments.

Customers can block transmission of their phone numbers on a per-call basis, free of charge, by dialing *67 before placing a call. On rotary dial phones, customers should dial 1-1-6-7.

Also available for the first time in the area are:

* Automatic Callback ($3.50 per month), which lets customers return the last incoming call, whether or not it was answered, and

* Repeat Dialing ($3.50 per month), which keeps dialing a busy number for up to 30 minutes or until the call can be completed.

Service orders taken by June 9, Illinois Bell will waive the standard $15 service connection charge for residence customers.

For more information, residence customers can reach a service representative 24 hours Monday through Saturday at 1-800-428-2111, extension 22. Business customers can call 1-800-698-4200.

Veterans to be surveyed on health needs

The Department of Veterans Affairs is announcing a national survey of veterans to obtain data on characteristics of the veteran population and use of VA benefits.

The information will assist the Department in planning for veterans' health care needs and changes in VA's medical system.

In-depth telephone surveys will be conducted, beginning in June through October, by Klemm Analysis Group and Westat under a $2.3 million contract. The survey will involve a sample of 10,600 veterans.

Some 5,000 will be selected by a random digit telephone dialing procedure. Selection of the remaining 5,600 will be obtained from three sets of VA files: The Compensation and Pension File, the Patient Treatment File and the Outpatient Clinic File.

The sample of 5,600 has been designed to address health-care reform issues that VA is reviewing and will reflect use of VA and non-VA medical care by service-connected and non-service-connected veterans.

Veterans' participation is voluntary, and the confidentiality of all responses will be strictly maintained by the contractor.

Tips from Frank's experts on the Miracle of Mulch for benefits and beauty

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Mulch, to most gardeners is something they wouldn't try to do without. Why is that? Isn't mulch just something you scatter around so you don't have to look at the dirt? Well, that's one use for it, but there's a lot more.

The word mulch is derived from the Anglo-Saxon word melsc or the German word molsch, which means mellow, soft, or rotten. Doesn't sound like this is going to be very interesting, does it? But wait, it gets better.

Mulches can be organic or inorganic. An organic mulch is one derived from a plant source. Mulches such as rock and plastic are obviously not derived from plants and are considered inorganic.

So what does mulch do besides hide the dirt? The main benefit of it is to help the soil retain moisture. That wet swim suit that your child left wadded under the bed takes a lot longer to dry than if it had been left out in the sun. The same is true for soil. It stays moist longer when the sun can't get to it.

When raindrops strike the ground, their energy can cause soil to compact or dislodge. This is one of the causes of erosion. For gardeners who like to keep the soil fluffy, it can be a major problem. Covering the soil by putting down a layer of bark or lava rock is an excellent way of preventing this type of erosion. Raindrops falling on your mulch may not sound too romantic, but it's sweet music to the soil.

During alternate periods of freezing and thawing, mulch can be quite beneficial. As we all know, when water freezes, it expands. Just a little, but enough to cause a movement of the soil, which is called heaving. Mulch helps prevent heaving by insulating and moderating soil temperatures. Organic mulch like bark chips, compost or shredded leaves are best for this purpose.

"Always wash your fruit before you eat it." That's sound advice that has been issued by many a Mom over the years. And most of us still adhere to it. But have you ever thought about when the fruit was still in the garden? If mulch is used, the fruit will be cushioned by nice clean straw instead of lying on the dirty ground. This also keeps down disease problems.

You may hear experienced gardeners talk about having to apply extra fertilizer in mulched areas because "nitrogen gets tied up" in the soil when organic mulches are used. What they're talking about is the result of microbes in the soil breaking down the mulch and using nitrogen, one of the most important plant nutrients, in the process. This is not a problem, since mulch is placed on top of the soil. In fact, many experts believe mulch makes more nutrients available to plants because the soil is kept moist and nutrients are only available to plants when dissolved in water.

Finally, mulch looks good. Decorative stone or bark looks great around an above-ground pool, in flower beds, around decks, trees, you name it. The right mulch can improve any landscape.

So there's more to mulch than meets the eye. Stop by Frank's and pick up some soon. You'll not only benefit your surroundings, but add beauty to them as well.

Shop any of these ten convenient Frank's locations.

Diocese looking for long marriages

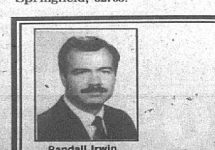

If you have been married 50 years or more, the Diocese of Springfield in Illinois is looking for you.

The Office for Family Life is planning a Wedding Anniversary Celebration for Catholic and interfaith couples who have weathered 50 or more years of marriage.

"Couples whose love has sustained them for half a century or more deserve the respect of the church," said Donna Dautman, family life director. "They provide a witness to the sanctity of the Christian vocation of marriage that's stronger than any sermon on the subject anyone could preach. They are living witnesses to the value of committed love."

Couples whose names are submitted to the Office for Family Life will receive a personal invitation for themselves and two guests to attend the Mass and reception at 2 p.m. on Sunday, July 11, at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Springfield. Diocesan Bishop Daniel Ryan will preside.

Names should be submitted by June 4 to the Office for Family Life, 524 E. Lawrence Ave., Springfield, 62703.

Edward Lance

Edward Louis Lance, Jr., 24, of Granite City, died at 2:42 a.m. Sunday, May 16, 1993, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City. The cause of death was apparently a gunshot wound to the head, sustained on the sidewalk in front of his home, Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke and police said.

Lance was born June 13, 1968, in East St. Louis.

He was a self-employed musician and tattoo artist, and an Army Veteran.

Survivors include his father, Edward Lance Sr. of Marissa; his mother, Joyce Stephens of Granite City; his paternal grandfather, Jim Lance of Granite City; his great-grandmother, Ida Holder of Granite City; his wife, Nicole (Whitford) Lance; two sons, Edward Lance III and Nicholas Lance, both of Granite City; one brother, Joseph Lance of Granite City; and one sister, Kristy Lance of Granite City.

He was preceded in death by one sister, Dena Lance, who died in 1987.

Visitation is from 11 a.m. until the time of services, Wednesday at Irwin Chapel, 3560 Maryville Road in Granite City. Services are at 1:30 p.m. with Tom Campbell, a friend, officiating. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Memorial Estates in Glen Carbon.

Michael Martinez

Michael Martinez, 70, of Granite City, died at 6:40 a.m. Saturday, May 15, 1993, at Colonades Nursing Home in Granite City, where he had been a resident for 23 years.

He was an office clerk at the Granite City Army Depot, a member of Holy Family Catholic Church, and a U.S. Army Veteran.

Survivors include one daughter, Karen Bielawski of Phoenix, Ariz.; four brothers, Larry Martinez, Joe Martinez, Norman Martinez, and Alfred Martinez, all of Granite City; four sisters, Irene SanSouci and Jenny Alvarado, both of Granite City; Theresa Kennedy of St. Louis; and Mary Phillips of Rancho Mirage, Calif.; and five grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Marcelline and Jessie (Rangel) Martinez; and one brother.

Services were at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Holy Family Catholic Church with the Rev. William Fisherkeller officiating. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery in Glen Carbon. Arrangements were handled by Mercer Mortuary in Granite City.

Aline Collins

Aline M. (Hill) Collins, 75, of Granite City, formerly of Advance, Mo., died at 1:15 p.m. Saturday, May 15, 1993, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

Mrs. Collins was born May 13, 1918, in Glenwood, Mo. She was a homemaker and a member of Sacred Heart of Jesus Polish National Catholic Church in Madison.

Survivors include her husband, John Modrusic, Sr.; four sons, John Modrusic, Jr., Edward Modrusic, and Andrew Modrusic all of Granite City; and Frank Modrusic of Madison; two daughters, Catherine Modrusic and Barbara Kary both of Madison; a brother, Frank J. Gac of Granite City; seven grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Clarence Collins, who died Dec. 29, 1990; a daughter, Shirley Collins, who died in 1986; her parents, Arnold and Julie (Snow) Hill; and one brother, Leonard Hill.

Services were Tuesday at the Irwin Chapel in Granite City with the Rev. Dale Clemmons officiating. Burial was in Sunset Hill Memorial Estates in Glen Carbon.

Memorials are requested for the American Cancer Society.

ston said he has never seen an area in which community newspapers dominate the market in both readers and advertising as the Journals.

"I believe very strongly that the growth of the future for the newspaper industry is in community newspapers," Johnston said. "Coming to the Journals in St. Louis, I'm starting out at the top. The Journals are recognized throughout the industry as the premiere community newspaper group in the U.S."

Johnston already has started in his new position and will be relocating his wife, Donna, and four sons to the St. Louis area over the next few months.

Joanna Modrusic

Joanna R. (Gac) Modrusic, 71, of Madison, died at 7:38 p.m. Saturday, May 15, 1993, at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

She was born July 24, 1921 in Lubienko Poland. She was a homemaker and a member of Sacred Heart of Jesus Polish National Catholic Church in Madison.

Survivors include her husband, John Modrusic, Sr.; four sons, John Modrusic, Jr., Edward Modrusic, and Andrew Modrusic all of Granite City; and Frank Modrusic of Madison; two daughters, Catherine Modrusic and Barbara Kary both of Madison; a brother, Frank J. Gac of Granite City; seven grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Andrew and Katherine (Kieltyka) Gac.

Services were 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at Irwin Chapel in Granite City with the Rev. Paschal DeGrand officiating. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Memorial Estates in Glen Carbon.

Memorials are requested for the American Cancer Society.

Frances Paciencia

Paciencia and the suspect met, police said.

Granite City High School Principal David Painter said that he did not know Paciencia well, but that she was apparently a "very popular, nice young lady" as well as a good student.

"Unfortunately, I didn't get to know her well because she wasn't the kind of student who had to visit the principal often," Painter said.

Paciencia's death was announced over the school's public address system Monday morning. Counselors have been helping students deal with the tragedy.

Speech Department teacher Beverly Scroggins said that Paciencia, a sophomore, was "a ray of sunshine" in her oral communication class.

"She was just a lovely young girl, always with a smile on her face and without an enemy in the world," Scroggins said.

"She was so friendly to everyone... She was so bright and she never complained."

"She was just one of those students you never forget because she was so outstanding. It is such a shame — she was a young girl with her whole life ahead of her and she had so much to give," Scroggins said.

Funeral services were scheduled for Wednesday. For more information, see an obituary in today's paper.

ton's position on the Zoning Board of Appeals. Melton, chairman of the Board of Appeals, also serves on the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. Melton has asked to be replaced on the zoning board because of a busy schedule, Selph said.

Selph also said that he will name a "couple" of members to the Plan Commission to fill expired terms, and fill a vacancy on the Granite City Housing Authority Board of Directors.

Phil Boyer, who served as manager for mayoral candidate Jeff Worthen's unsuccessful campaign, will retain his position as assistant superintendent of the Sewage Treatment Plant, Selph said.

Frances Paciencia

Frances Paula Paciencia, 15, of Granite City, died at 1:40 p.m. Saturday, May 15, 1993, in St. Louis County.

She was born Sept. 10, 1977, in Frankfurt, Germany, and had been a resident of Granite City for one year.

She was a student at Granite City High School.

Survivors include her parents, Joseph and Diane (Breen) Paciencia; one sister, Natasha Paciencia; one brother, Joseph Paciencia Jr.; paternal grandparents, Robert and Janice Paciencia of Dallas, Texas; maternal grandparents, Grover and Joan Breen of Jacksonville, Fla.; maternal great-grandmother, Mildred Lipuma of Jacksonville; and paternal great-grandmother, Stella Paciencia of Baldwinville, N.Y.

Services will be at 9 a.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, 2300 Pontoon Road in Granite City, with the Rev. Robert DeGrand officiating. Burial will be in Restland Cemetery in Dallas. Arrangements are being handled by Irwin Chapel in Granite City.

Memorials are requested for the American Cancer Society.

ton's position on the Zoning Board of Appeals. Melton, chairman of the Board of Appeals, also serves on the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. Melton has asked to be replaced on the zoning board because of a busy schedule, Selph said.

Selph also said that he will name a "couple" of members to the Plan Commission to fill expired terms, and fill a vacancy on the Granite City Housing Authority Board of Directors.

Phil Boyer, who served as manager for mayoral candidate Jeff Worthen's unsuccessful campaign, will retain his position as assistant superintendent of the Sewage Treatment Plant, Selph said.

Chocolate cookies
for all ages...2CYou're invited to a
showerBy Janice Denham
Staff writer

Showering a bride or mother-to-be with gifts is a tradition still in style. While some hostesses — and hosts, given today's penchant for co-ed parties — find it easier to invite guests to a restaurant for a gift opening and shower of good wishes, the time-honored system of having a party at home or a community building punctuates the need for festive food and decorations.

Vivian Bernard, owner of Let's Party in Florissant, says showers are still mostly female turf. "Most of them are pretty traditional. If it's a bridal shower, the girls come, and if it's a baby shower, the women come to that," she says.

For instant decorating pizzazz, the call is for helium balloons.

"Instead of crepe paper and wedding bells, they are opting for big bunches of balloons," she says. Color schemes are much darker and richer. She points to "jewel" tones — amethyst (deep purple), teal, black and white with a touch of silver or pink, red or mauve — as dominant colors.

Linda Meador, owner of Party World in south St. Louis County, says the variety of balloons has increased the last few years to offer colors and dimensions — like shiny pearl sheen in fuchsia, sapphire blue and hunter green — for fresh appeal. Even baby showers are decorated with colors in primary hues, rather than pastels.

Julie Allen, manager of Paper Warehouse in Creve Coeur, says a popular table decoration matches tissue paper flowers with helium balloons, so the single decoration fills the room from table to ceiling.

There are other options when planning a shower. Invitations range in price. Guests can be invited by computerized letter, the traditional fill-in-the-blanks or printed invitations.

To loosen a little cash for other wedding or baby expenses, Meador has a few tips for stretching a shower-giver's dollar:

- Do it yourself. There are plenty of stores that fill balloons, bake cakes and mix chicken salad, but many people can do much of this themselves. Spend money on what you will not or cannot do.

- Pools and clubhouses make instant party sites. They offer plenty of space, a clean site for decorating or not decorating, kitchen access and something to do for more people than many apartments or homes accommodate at one time.

- Rent, rather than buy, what you do not have. Everything from white tablecloths to chairs, decorative up-foot arching poles to dishes and tents are available for hire.

- Paper products in solid colors are less expensive than florals and patterns. They come in more economical, larger quantities, too. Bernard says the fancy kinds can be stretched by setting out napkins or plates with every other one decorated.

- Invite guys to a shower. Frilly decorations are associated with women, so having a co-ed shower eliminates the need for lots of frill.

A favorite shower theme, appropriate for female or co-ed parties, is around-the-clock, where each guest is assigned a different time of day, so the gift reflects the time. Another that works well is to request a gift for a certain room in the house. A variety of holidays will garner gifts like heart-shaped cake pans and turkey platters. Tools and gadgets for the house will be appreciated by both the bride and groom.

If a mom and dad know whether they will have a girl or boy, it is thoughtful to let the guest know. A delayed prize can be offered to the guest who guesses the closest arrival date and time of the baby. To increase the "baby" atmosphere, have guests bring or send in a baby picture of themselves and let everyone guess who is who.

Food that is served can range from punch and cake to a full meal, with most shower menus somewhere in the middle. It is always a special occasion that brings together people who wish the best for a new union of husband and wife or parent and child.

Shrimp with Oriental chili sauce

- 2 cups finely chopped green bell pepper
- 2 tsp. chopped green onion with tops
- 2 to 3 tsp. minced jalapeno pepper
- 4 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 tsp. olive or vegetable oil
- 4 tsp. chili weed
- 4 tsp. mint leaves
- 4 tsp. dried leaf thyme
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 tsp. tomato paste
- 1 tsp. rice wine or cider vinegar
- 2 tsp. soy sauce
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 lb. medium shrimp, deveined, peeled, cooked, chilled

In medium saucepan, saute green pepper, onion, jalapeno pepper and garlic in oil until tender. Stir in chili, mint and thyme. Cook over low heat 2 minutes. Stir in broth, tomato paste, wine, soy sauce and sugar. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, until sauce is reduced to 2 cups.

Serve warm or chilled with shrimp. Makes 12 servings.

Note: Cooked sauce and cooled shrimp can be refrigerated separately in resealable plastic bags — sauce up to 3 days, shrimp up to 1 day. Sauce and shrimp can be combined in bag to marinate in refrigerator up to 1 day.

Flavored
party mints

- 6 oz. white baking squares or vanilla milk chips
- Assorted paste food colors
- Assorted candy flavorings

Melt baking squares or vanilla milk chips in small saucepan according to package directions. Let cool about 5 minutes until mixture is somewhat thickened. Divide mixture into 3 or 4 small custard cups. Stir in small amount of food colors and candy flavorings.

Spoon each mixture into separate small plastic storage bag. Gently squeeze out air and zip bag closed. Twist top of bag above mixture. Cut ¼ inch off corner of each bag with scissors. Pipe 1-inch mints onto cookie sheets lined with waxed paper. Refrigerate about 10 minutes until firm. Carefully remove mints from waxed paper. Refrigerate in storage bags.

Makes about 3 dozen.

Note: Use oil-based flavoring and colors. Liquid food color will harden mixture.

Raspberry
celebration cake

Cake

- 2 pkg. (12 oz. each) frozen unsweetened raspberries, thawed, or 2 pints fresh raspberries
- 2 pkg. (2 layers each) white cake mix
- 1½ cups water
- egg whites
- ¼ cup oil

Buttercream Frosting

Preheat oven to 350°. Grease and flour 2 oval cake pans, 7½-by-9½ inches and 13-by-9½ inches (see note).

Process raspberries in food processor or blender until smooth. Strain and discard seeds.

Prepare cake mixes in large bowl using water, egg whites and oil, following package instructions. Gently mix in raspberry puree. Pour 2½ cups batter into small pan and remaining batter into large pan. Bake in preheated oven until cakes spring back when touched and begin to pull away from sides of pans, about 25 minutes for small cake, 30 to 40 minutes for large cake. Cool cakes in pans on wire racks 10 minutes. Invert on wire racks to cool. Using cakes as patterns, cut 2 ovals from waxed paper to use under cakes for decorating.

Place large cake on serving plate. Frost with Buttercream Frosting. Arrange small cake on top and frost.

Spoon frosting into quart-size resealable plastic storage bag. Cut scant ¼ inch off corner of bag with scissors. Pipe decorative design on waxed-paper oval; refrigerate about 10 minutes until firm. Carefully remove designs from waxed paper with knife and place on cake. Spoon remaining frosting into small resealable bag. Gently squeeze out air and zip bag closed. Twist top of bag above icing. Cut ¼ inch off corner of bag with scissors. Pipe decorative border around top and sides of cake layers. Makes 1 large cake.

Note: Round cake pans — 6 and 10 inches or 7 and 12 inches — can be used. Or recipe can be cut in half and baked in two 8-inch or 9-inch square pans to make regular two-layer cakes.

Cake layers can be baked up to 2 days in advance and stored in storage bags in refrigerator. Frosting can be made up to 3 days in advance and stored in refrigerator in bags. Let stand at room temperature several hours until soft.

Buttercream frosting

- 1½ cups butter or margarine, softened
- 2 lb. confectioner's sugar
- 2 to 4 tsp. milk

Beat butter in large bowl until fluffy. Beat in confectioner's sugar, adding enough milk to make frosting consistency. Makes about 4½ cups.

To decorate a cake like the one above, follow these simple instructions.Smoked turkey and nut pate

- ½ cup halved walnuts
- ½ cup halved pecans
- ½ cup thinly sliced green onion with tops
- ½ lb. smoked turkey breast, cut in ¾ inch pieces
- 3 oz. brick cheese, cut in ¾ inch cubes
- ½ to 1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1 to 1½ tsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1 tsp. white pepper
- Assorted crackers

Combine walnuts, pecans and onion in food processor until very finely chopped. Add turkey and cheese. Process, using pulse, until finely chopped. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, mustard and pepper. Process until smooth.

Spoon mixture into small crock or bowl. Refrigerate, covered, at least 8 hours for flavors to blend. Serve with crackers. Makes 12 servings (about 2½ cups).

Note: Smoked turkey breast or cooked chicken breast from deli can be used.

If not using food processor, process nut halves and turkey separately in blender until finely ground. Finely shred cheese and mince onion. Combine all ingredients, except crackers, in large bowl. Beat with electric mixer until smooth.

Cabbage
strudel

- 1 small onion, thinly sliced
- 1 tsp. butter or margarine
- 4 cups thinly sliced cabbage
- 1½ tsp. caraway seed, crushed
- ¼ cup chicken broth
- ½ cup raisins
- Salt and pepper
- 8 sheets frozen phyllo dough, thawed

Butter or margarine, melted

Preheat oven to 350°.

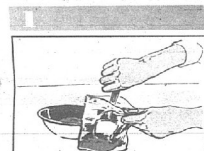

Saute onion in 1 tablespoon butter in large skillet until tender. Stir in cabbage and caraway seed. Add broth. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low. Cook, covered, about 10 minutes until cabbage is tender and broth absorbed. Stir in raisins. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Cool 5 to 10 minutes.

Arrange 1 sheet phyllo dough on clean kitchen towel. Brush lightly with melted butter. Top with second sheet phyllo and brush with melted butter; repeat with 2 more sheets phyllo and butter.

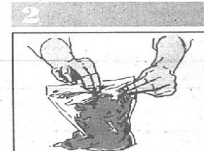

Spoon half the cabbage mixture along short side of phyllo, about 1 inch from edge. Roll tightly. Place on cookie sheet. Brush top with melted butter. Repeat with remaining phyllo, melted butter and cabbage mixture. Bake in preheated oven 15 to 20 minutes until golden.

Cut strudels in 1-inch pieces. Serve warm. Makes 12 servings (2 pieces each).

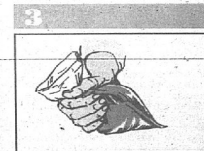

Note: Strudels can be cut in halves and stored, baked or unbaked, in resealable storage bags, refrigerated, up to 2 days. Cabbage mixture can be made in advance and refrigerated in bags up to 2 days.

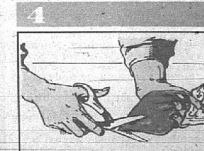

1 Fill a quart-size resealable plastic bag with up to 2 cups of mixture.

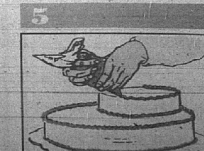

2 Gently squeeze out air and zip bag closed.

3 Twist top of bag above icing.

4 Snip about ¼ inch from bottom corner of bag. The larger the hole, the wider the piping.

5 Pipe icing onto cake in desired pattern or design.

Chocolate cookies for all age groups

Chocolate chip cookies are like a best friend — warm and soft when necessary, ready to fill you with reliable comfort on a bad day.

These two cookies will delight chocolate lovers of all ages. Double-Chunk Chocolate Cookies hold semisweet chocolate chunks throughout the dough, with some reserved for melting on their exterior.

Chocolate Fantasies are a triple trip through chocolate land. Chocolate lovers will appreciate tips for making their favorite cookies a success.

To melt unsweetened semisweet baking chocolate, place unwrapped chocolate in microwave-safe dish. For 1 square chocolate, microwave on high 1 to 2 minutes until almost melted, stirring after each minute. Stir until completely melted. Add 10 seconds for each additional square of chocolate.

When a recipe tell a cook to "beat," an electric mixer can be used or the batter can be mixed by hand, using vigorous motion with a wooden spoon.

Use regular stick margarine or butter. Soft, light or diet margarine has water whipped into it, so it does not give satisfactory results.

Use separate measuring cups for liquids and dry ingredients. Always use measuring spoons.

Chocolate fantasies

- 4 squares semisweet chocolate
- 4 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine or butter
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 cup semisweet chocolate chips
- 1 cup pecans, finely chopped

Preheat oven to 350°.

In medium microwave-safe bowl, microwave semisweet and unsweetened chocolate with margarine on high power 3 minutes until margarine is melted; or place in heavy saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly, until melted. Remove from heat or oven. Stir until chocolate is completely melted.

Using electric mixer on high speed, beat eggs in large bowl until well blended. Gradually add sugar, beating until thick and lemon-colored. Stir in melted chocolate mixture. Mix in flour. Add chocolate chips and pecans. Mix well. Refrigerate dough 30 minutes.

Roll in 1-inch balls. Set on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake on middle rack in preheated oven 12 minutes.

Cool 5 minutes. Remove from cookie sheets to cool on wire racks. Makes 30 cookies.

Double chocolate chunk cookies

- 1 pkg. (8 squares) semisweet chocolate
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine or butter, at cool room temperature
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts, if desired

Preheat oven to 375°. Grease cookie sheets.

In microwave-safe dish, microwave 1 square chocolate on high power 1 to 2 minutes until almost melted, stirring halfway through cooking time. Stir until completely melted.

Cut 3 squares chocolate in large (1/2-inch) chunks.

Beat margarine until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in granulated and brown sugars. Mix in egg and vanilla. Stir in melted chocolate. Mix in flour, baking powder and salt. Stir in chocolate chunks and nuts. Refrigerate dough 30 minutes.

Drop by heaping tablespoonful about 2 inches apart on prepared cookie sheets. Bake in preheated oven 8 to 10 minutes until lightly browned. Do not overbake; they will be soft when done and firm upon cooling. Cool 2 minutes before removing from sheets.

Microwave remaining 4 squares chocolate on high power 1 1/2 to 2 minutes, stirring halfway through cooking time. Remove from oven. Stir until completely melted.

Dip half of each cookie into melted chocolate. Let stand until chocolate is firm.

Makes 2 dozen (3-inch) cookies. Recipe can be doubled, tripled or quadrupled.

Note: Dough can be refrigerated 4 hours or overnight. Let stand at room temperature about 15 minutes before baking.

Young cooks find picante sauce spices up their lives, recipes

Four young "spicy-food" fans with a flair for creative cooking have been named top prize winners in the fifth annual Face Picante Sauce Young Cooks Recipe Contest.

The $1,000 grand prize was awarded for ChiliPizza, a cross-cultural culinary creation submitted by Tracy Galik and Christy Cecconello of Jeannette, Pa.

The pizza crust is topped with ground beef, bean and bacon chili, cheese and bright bell pepper strips for a snack or main dish. They developed it in home economics class.

Pecos Bill's Spicy Steak Sandwiches, a hearty open-face sandwich won $500 for a 12-year-old student in Barrington, Ill.

Turkey-Lentil Chili, a low-fat meal in a bowl, won first place in the soups and stews category for a high school freshman in Middletown, Md.

ChiliPizza

1 can (15 oz.) kidney beans, rinsed, drained, partially mashed with fork
3 slices bacon, diced
1 lb. ground chuck
2 cups picante sauce
1 tsp. cumin
1 (12 inch) prebaked pizza crust or Italian bread shell
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese, divided
1 cup short, thin red and green bell pepper strips

Preheat oven to 350°. Cook bacon in 10-inch skillet until crisp. Remove to paper towels with slotted spoon. Wipe out skillet with paper towel.

In same skillet, brown ground beef. Drain. Add picante sauce, cumin and beans. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered and stirring frequently, 10 to 12 minutes until mixture thickens.

Place pizza crust on pizza pan or cookie sheet. Spoon meat mixture onto crust.

Sprinkle with bacon and half the cheese. Top evenly with pepper. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in preheated oven 20 minutes.

Cut in wedges. Serve with additional picante sauce, if desired. Makes 8 snack or 4 main dish servings.

Pecos Bill's spicy steak sandwiches

1 1/2 tbsp. oil
1 lb. sirloin steak, cut in 1/2 inch thin strips
1 medium onion, cut in 1/2 inch wedges
1/4 cup picante sauce
1 tsp. cumin
1/2 to 3/4 tsp. garlic salt
3 French rolls (6 inch), cut in half lengthwise
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese or combination

Heat oil in large skillet over medium-high heat. Cook onion, stirring frequently, 3 minutes. Add steak. Cook and stir about 2 minutes until steak is no longer red and onion is almost tender.

Add picante sauce, cumin and garlic salt. Increase heat to high. Cook, stirring constantly, 2 minutes or until most of liquid has evaporated. Remove from heat.

Place rolls cut-side up on cookie sheet or broiler pan. Broil until cut sides are just golden brown. Top each half with scant 1/2 cup meat mixture.

Sprinkle each with about 2 tablespoons cheese. Broil until cheese is just melted.

Makes 3 to 6 servings.

1 tbsp. oil
1 lb. ground turkey
1 cup coarsely chopped onion
1 cup sliced celery
2 or 3 cloves garlic, minced
3 cups beef broth
1 cup dry lentils
1 cup picante sauce
4 to 5 tsp. chili powder
1 1/2 cups mixed chopped red and green bell pepper

Suggested toppings: crushed tortilla chips, shredded Monterey Jack cheese, dairy sour cream

Heat oil in large saucepan over medium heat. Crumble turkey into saucepan. Add onion, celery and garlic. Cook and stir, breaking up turkey with spoon, about 5 minutes until turkey is cooked through and onion is almost tender.

Add broth, picante sauce, lentils and chili powder. Mix well. Bring to boil.

Reduce heat. Simmer, covered, 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add bell pepper. Continue to simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Ladle into bowls. Top as desired. Makes 6 servings, about 8 cups chili.

Franks in ponchos

10 frankfurters
2 slices American cheese, each cut in 5 strips
2 cups biscuit baking mix
1/2 cup water
1/2 tsp. chili powder
1 cup crushed corn chips

Preheat oven to 400°. Slice frankfurters lengthwise. Insert 1 strip cheese in each.

In medium bowl, combine baking mix, water and chili powder. Mix with fork to form soft dough. On floured board, lightly knead dough. Divide in 10 portions. Roll each piece in 3-by-7-inch rectangle. Wrap around a frankfurter and seal. Brush lightly with water. Roll in chips.

Place seam-side down on baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven 20 to 25 minutes until golden.

Makes 5 servings.

Cloverview club meets

The Cloverview Garden Club held its April meeting at Ravanel's Restaurant. There were eight members present including one guest, Thelma Sues, a niece of Cecil Johnson.

The meeting was conducted by Veronica Williamson. The club won a blue ribbon on their yearbook. The book evaluation sheet received 100 percent.

Show and tell was butterflies in your garden. The group will continue to visit the nursing home and spend some time visiting an honorary member, Caroline Stearns.

The program was given by Dan Elliott, division forester and representative of Illinois Power. He spoke of where and how to plant and care for trees.

Omicron Master Chapter meets

Ten sorority members of Omicron Master Chapter met April 7th in the home of Delores Dorch. Joyce Alexander has completed and mailed the semi-annual record review. Arlene Haldeman was in charge of the April yard sale and had requested that members attend the Friday night set up.

City Council representative, Evelyn Tolliver, reported on the Valentine dance sponsored by the area city council and held at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

The chapter will also donate an attendance prize.

Evelyn extended a thank you to members who had sent birthday cards to her mother on her 90th birthday. Following the theme "together we grow", Juanita Calve held a quiz on the identification of various flowers and trees. At the conclusion of her program, she presented each member with two packets of seeds.

The childlike Bella (Mercedes Ruehl) confronts her impassive mother (Irene Worth), in "Neil Simon's Lost in Yonkers."

Ruehl finds 'Big' help with 'Yonkers' character

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Mercedes Ruehl says her character in the new film "Neil Simon's Lost in Yonkers," which is based on the successful Broadway show of the same title, is a difficult one to get a handle on.

The 30-something actress from the Queens section of New York City says the young woman she portrays, Bella, isn't quite sane, yet certainly isn't crazy.

Bella is an aunt to two young boys who are forced to move in with their grandmother when their father is widowed and has to move south to seek a good job. The year is 1942.

"I suppose Bella first comes across retarded," Ruehl said, "but that's not really true. In today's world we would say she has a learning disability, plus the fact that she's the perennial child living in an escapist world. She has been overprotected by her mother, which probably has more to do with her mother's need to always have someone at home living with her."

In addition to doing this film adaptation, Ruehl also played the same role on Broadway in the original company.

"When I first read the play, I thought it was charming and original and a beautiful piece, but I had no idea how to do the role," she said.

"I was supposed to read some scenes for Neil Simon and I was panicked. What does Bella do, talk baby talk? Is she just show, or-for real? So I was alone in my hotel room in California, studying the script and talking to the furniture.

"I still couldn't find the metaphor I need for Bella," Ruehl said. "Then I remembered Tom Hanks in 'Big.' It was fascinating to watch him play a 13-year-old in an adult's body. That was the true thing that anchored the character in reality."

"And that opened Bella for me. She didn't have to be some cartoon of a little girl, just a full-grown human being whose emotional and intellectual growth stopped at about 13, only I decided to up her emotional age to about 15 or 16 for the movie."

Ruehl received an Oscar for Best Supporting Actress in 1992 for her work opposite Robin Williams and Jeff Bridges in "The Fisher King." She said her film career really took off only five years ago, when she was cast as a brassy mafia wife in director Jonathan Demme's "Married to the Mob."

Ruehl admits she is still a little shocked every time she sees herself up on the big screen.

"Before I got into films, I was just a working actress on the East Coast on the regional dinner theater circuit. I'm not certain I really knew how I looked up on the stage," she said.

"Now I'm up there 20 feet tall, and I cringe at how I look. 'I never think it ends up looking as good in the final film as it felt when I did it originally on the set. I keep reminding myself to ask the director in my next film if they can't do something to make me look better, like 10 years younger, perhaps.'"

'Dragon' kicks up the action

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

"Dragon: The Bruce Lee Story," a sanitized version of the old Bruce Lee martial arts movies, faithfully chronicles the life of the late film star.

It is based on the book "Bruce Lee: The Man Only I Knew," written by Bruce Lee's widow, Linda Lee. It traces Lee's struggle over racial inequities to become an action-film star, before his death in 1973 from a cerebral edema at the age of 33.

Hawaiian-born Jason Scott Lee (no relation) plays Bruce Lee. He depicts Lee as a work-obsessed family man with no moral flaws other than always coming home late from work.

"Dragon: The Bruce Lee Story" is too respectful of the man it portrays to allow much objectivity. It is a big-budget and well-produced movie with lots of martial arts action scenes.

It also gives good court to the ironies that surrounded the death of Lee and his son, Brandon Lee, who was accidentally shot and killed in a movie scene earlier this year.

Anderson Hospital technologists are certified

Six radiologic technologists from Anderson Hospital, Maryville, recently received certification in mammography registry from the American Registry of Radiologic Technology. Currently, mammography registry is voluntary for radiologic technologists who operate mammography equipment.

"The mammography registry assures mammography patients that our staff has obtained the most advanced training available in mammography," said Donna Summers, director of radiology at Anderson Hospital. "The registry certifies that each of the technologists met specific standards and advanced qualifications in mammography."

Registered radiologic technologists who have completed the advanced certification in March. Before applying for registry, each technologist completed a one-on-one course in advanced mammography at Bellevue Area College.

Summers, the additional training focuses on advanced radiologic techniques specific to mammography, including how to achieve a position that will result in the best possible image. A better image can result in earlier detection of breast cancer, which is often curable in its earliest stages.

"Breast cancer affects about one in nine women, so it's reassuring for women to know that our technologists volunteered for and received this advanced training," Summers added.

The American Cancer Society suggests that women have one baseline (screening) mammogram between the ages of 35 and 40. Women ages 40 to 50 should have a mammogram every other year, unless family history or the baseline mammogram is late otherwise. After age 50, women should have mammograms performed once a year.

Mammograms at Anderson Hospital's mammogram can be scheduled through your doctor. For more information regarding Anderson Hospital's mammography program, call 288-5711, extension 435.

Warriors

Nunes led off the eighth with a single over third baseman Corey Alexander's head and Bill Herman followed with a single to center. Funk came on to relieve O'Keefe.

Ridenour hit a chopper back to Funk, who caught Nunes in a rundown at third base. But Ridenour and Herman moved up to second and third on the play, and Rob Odum drove in both runners with a single to left.

Ben Hicks came on in the bottom of the inning and retired the side in order to make a winner of Reiser (3-2). It was the Warriors' eighth straight win.

"It was a big ballgame for us to win," Stegemeier said.

With the Warriors starting at the way, the Warriors starters sat out the second game and let the junior varsity unit take over. The Warriors responded with a 20-5 win that featured an eight-run seventh inning. O'Fallon used five pitchers in the game.

"We were hitting up and down the lineup," Stegemeier said. "The first game, we didn't hit."

We were kind of sluggish, but we scored when we had to.

O'Keefe, a lefthander, kept the batters off stride in the first game, but so did Corey Dickerson. Dickerson held the Panthers to one hit through three innings before giving way to Reiser.

Ridenour started the second game and went three innings to earn the win and improve to 3-2. Byt the star of the second game was first baseman Chad Dooley.

Dooley went 4-for-4 with four runs scored and seven runs batted in, including a three-run homer. Dooley's homer came in the fourth inning. It sailed over the center-field fence and gave the Warriors a 10-0 lead.

Dooley, who also hit a single and two doubles, came close to hitting for the cycle.

"He hit the ball hard," Stegemeier said. "He had a real good game. He's starting to show signs of being a hitter again."

The Warriors have been on a tear offensively, but their pitching has been the team's strong point. Mark Winfield and Nunes finished up for Ridenour in the second game Saturday.

The top four finishers in the men's 10K race jockey for position. They are, left to right, Joe Leuchtmann, Chris Borsas, David Cuadrado and Rudy Rocha.

Borsas' training partner, David Cuadrado of Arvada, Colo., was third at 31:00.

"I'm always pleased to come back to St. Louis," said the 26-year-old Borsas, a graduate of CBC High School and the University of Wisconsin. "My wife (Sara) and I have been in Colorado for six months, but it's nice to have the hometown crowd and see my family and friends."

"I liked the course. I'll keep coming back here as long as I'm running well. This race will get better and better as the years go by."

Race organizers already are thinking about the 1994 Spirit of St. Louis Road Race.

"We hope to double our field for next year," Virgin said. "This year's race gave all the athletes a chance to showcase their talent."

OH MY ACHING CORNS!

A phrase so commonly used by those suffering needlessly from painful corns. Although trimming them affords temporary relief, within 1-2 months regrowth of the corn occurs along with the pain and discomfort. The recurrence is due to the underlying calcium deposit causing excessive pressure where the skin responds by building up that corn tissue. In almost all instances the corn can be permanently removed by an in-office procedure requiring little or no time off work. There is no need to suffer any longer. want to go out with a bang," Gardner said. "I'm putting in extra practice at home, and I'm working on my times."

But he's not alone in it. It's on his mind all the time. (But I don't know what to expect. The competition I run against the day these guys are going for it.)

She said she is looking forward to getting challenged at state. "I've been very competitive," Gardner said. "I think it will help me."

But she's not alone. "I can see the Trojanettes bring home a medal or two. It appears that they will relay anchor anchor anchoring, has the best chance."

"I think we'll do much better than we did last year," said Gardner said. "We want to score more team points. I'm not just looking forward to how I do, but how the team does."

second set. "People are finally starting to realize that Jack is a special player," Lobdell said. "He started to play better, and I'm real pleased with that."

Lobdell said a triangular match against Alton last weekend prepared his squad for the grueling two-day conference meet.

"I want to use good experience," he said. "The kids were really fatigued last week, and we can't count on that (experience). But we needed to play long days in hot weather. We're looking forward to the situation. I've got some decisions to make."

In other singles action, Markel Smith beat Alton singles as he topped David Ogile of Collinsville - 6-1, 6-3. Sophomore Chris Mitch-all seasons. Woodfolk did not run the hurdles last year, but her decision to take up the event this season was not a last-minute one. "I like to see her trim at least a second or two from her sectional time," says "I'm not sure," says "I think she can do better," Briggs said.

"I have to do better, especially with the competition I'll be going against," Woodfolk said. "I need to get my time down. I want to go to the state meet."

Getting back to state has been Woodfolk's goal all season. She was accompanied by her brother, James, to state last year as an alternate. This year, she earned a spot.

"That's been my focus all year," Woodfolk said. "Hopefully, we'll do well at state. We're excited."

singles—finishing off Collinsville's Todd Moore in three sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

At No. 5 singles, Ola Sternebrink took fourth after falling to the 19th-ranked, 17-year-old Sternebrink was beaten by eventual champion Ryan Altmansberger in four sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

At No. 6, Joel Belmer finished fourth after losing 6-3, 1-6, 6-4 to 19th-ranked, 17-year-old.

"The key for us is our depth," Lobdell said. "I wasn't too happy about losing to the 17-year-olds, and I know the kids thought they could have done better. But all the kids are feeling that they played well. Belleville West is usually that good, but not that good."

In doubles competition, Mitchell and Jason Smith placed fourth after losing to the 19th-ranked Alton's Chris Thordahl and Alex Sinclair 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Markie and Belmer also fin-to turn one. Swindell came home to roost right side up and was unhurt. He was able to complete repairs in time to finish fifth lap.

Aaron Berryhill flew over the turn three guardrail during hot laps, destroying his car. He was treated and released from an area hospital for injuries to his hand.

The Trophy Dash was won by Jacobs, while the heats went to Andy Hillenburg, Greg Hodnett and Jac Haudenschild.

Bobby Bittles from both Allied Auto Racing Association Sportsman and Masters, beating Bill Masters and Bob Johnson in the first 15-lapper. Bittles was chased by Tom Peterson and Masters in the second.

ished third. That pair beat Coltonville's Tim McKay and Todd Moore 7-6, 6-4. At No. 2 doubles, Carmody and Sternberger were fifth at 6-4, 6-3. The best singles pair was Rashon Mosley 6-1, 6-1.

With the sectional scheduled for Friday at Granite City, Lobdell's decisions to make concerning the team were made. The players, singles or doubles. A player can only take part in one event. Lobdell said he would not have said he wanted to participate in singles, but he will play singles. Lobdell said the decisions will be made this week.

Players are scheduled to play host to Roxana at 4 p.m. today. The sectional will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday. The nine-team field includes Alto, Marquette, Alto, Alto, Reilly, Lake View, Cahokia, East St. Louis, Lincoln and Wood River.

The Hospitality/Food Service Management Program of Belleville Area College will participate for the first time in the college commencement ceremony May 19.

In addition to the degree program, two other certificate programs are offered.

One certificate is offered in Food Service, which focuses on upgrading culinary skills, and another certificate is offered in hospitality, a restaurant and hotel management oriented

Individuals are encouraged to enroll in the program to upgrade job skills, said program coordinator Mike Hayes.

Upgrading job skills could improve a person's chance for promotion or a new position in their career, he said.

Others might want to take the course just to improve their personal knowledge of food preparation or the food service industry. Hayes and the other instructors in the program have extensive backgrounds in the food service industry. The instructors include Master

Chef Ollie Summer, Chef Hank Lambert, Chef Becky Kennedy of the Ritz Carlton Hotel in St. Louis and Joyce Carnahan, the home economics instructor at Red Bud High School.

The program is based at the Granite City Campus, 4950 Maryville Road, but classes are offered at the Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, and the Red Bud Campus, 500 W. South Fourth St.

Registration for summer 1993 classes began April 26.

For more information about the program, contact Mike Hayes at 931-0600, extension 689.

Fifteen members of the Trio Club attended the annual Madison County Homemakers Extension Association's 57th annual achievement meeting on April 26 at the Eden United Church of Christ in Edwardsville. The theme of the meeting was "Vision for the Future."

Election and installation of Madison County officers was held, in addition to awards and presentation of the historical book.

The highlight of the meeting was a review of the constitution, whereby the new association name was changed and adopted as Madison County Association for Family and Community Education. In addition, in lieu of "unit", all community organizations will be designated as a "club."

Potted plants were awarded as attendance prizes. Those attending from Trio Club were: Genevieve Hill, Pat Mitchell, Doris Anderson, Joyce Bennington, Shirley Thompson, Helen Robinson, Robert Cottrell, Emma Jakich, Pauline Nichols, Helen Todoroff, Louise Anderson, Marge O'Neil, Lucille Sackett, Marie Durbin, Helen Roesser, and guest Pam Mitchell.

Social club to install officers

The Granite City Senior Social Club enjoyed a dance at the Township Hall on April 26 with 124 in attendance.

President Bernice Mercer welcomed everyone and Vice President Gertrude Barkley led the Lord's prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Secretary Helen Lipchik read minutes of previous meetings, and Treasurer Gertrude Boskey gave the financial report, which will be filed for audit.

Sunshine Lady Annabelle Patton reported sending three get-well cards and four sympathy cards to members from March 23 to April 26.

Nominating chairman Ruth Kaminski reported that the following were nominated for office for the ensuing year: president, Bernice Mercer; vice president, Marge Hall; secretary, Louise Baker; and treasurer, Jane Duncan. Also, the following members were nominated as one-year board members: Annabelle Patton, Grace Paddock and Ben Forsyth. Two-year board members nominated were Helen Meyer, Margaret Kwiatkowski, Ruth Kaminski, Frank Basden, Irma Manning and Ann Kovach.

Motion was made and seconded that the above named be nominated for office for the ensuing year. Installation of new officers will be held at the next meeting, which will be held on May 24.

TRAVEL

Tour visits 'Mother of Rivers'

Landlocked amid the mountains of central Europe, Switzerland is a nation of people who have no unity of ethnic heritage, language or religion.

The land is splintered by barriers of rock and rivers, but it is a nation that nonetheless is united and prosperous. Officially known as the Swiss Confederation, Switzerland is a republican federation of 26 cantons, or states.

Situated at the hydrographic center of Europe, it is bordered on the west by France, on the north by Germany, on the east by Austria and the Principality of Liechtenstein, and on the south by Italy.

Except for minor adjustments, Swiss borders have remained stable since their establishment at the Congress of Vienna in 1815, a stability from which the economy of the nation often has benefited.

Switzerland's small area of 16,940 square miles (about one-half the size of Maine) and its modest-sized population give no indication of the country's character or significance on the international scene. Switzerland's geographically imposed role as guardian of Europe's natural Alpine routes has been both a reason for and basic tenet of its traditionally neutral existence.

Switzerland owes much of its existence to the exigencies of geography. With one-quarter of its area composed of high Alps, lakes and barren rock, and with no seaboard and few resources other than water power, Switzerland has managed to impose unity on diverse races, religions and languages.

For almost 700 years it has maintained the world's oldest and most virile democracy, achieving an almost unbelievable standard of living. It has become a financial center and headquarters of more than 300 international institutions, including the International Red Cross in Geneva, and the International Postal Union in Bern.

The Journal-sponsored tour to the Alps and the Oktoberfest visits the countries of Austria, Switzerland, Germany and the Principality of Liechtenstein.

Orchestrated to include multiple two-night stopovers, the tour combines comprehensive sight-seeing with ample leisure time for individual activities. One of the highlights of the itinerary is a two-night visit to Lucerne.

Study tour to Alaska set for this summer

The School of Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a camping study tour to Alaska this summer, July 13 to 31.

The study tour has been designed for teachers who wish to develop their expertise in outdoor education. Content of the study will focus on exploring the natural and cultural history of Alaska and the Yukon Territory in Canada. Academic credit is available for those who wish it.

Land costs are $770 and include water and land transportation, camping, and the cost of selected activities. Tuition for five hours of academic credit is $84.75. Round trip air fare from Seattle to Anchorage is $483.

The group will depart from St. Louis for Seattle July 13. After purchasing supplies in Seattle, the group will depart Bellingham, Wash., via the Alaska Marine Highway. They will take the Taku Ferry to Ketchikan, visiting Totem Bight, Totem Heritage Center, Saxman Totem Park, Creek Park, and Deer Mountain Hatchery.

July 17, they depart Ketchikan via Malaspina, with stops in Wrangell, Petersburg, and Juneau/Auke Bay. There they will explore the Mendenhall Glacier and visit the state capital and old Juneau.
